Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "You can't realize how much my life has changed. I used to be shy and afraid to talk to people. I'm so much happier now. A whole new world has opened up for me."

These words came from a man in love. If they sound somewhat Marty-like, it's only natural. The man is Ernest Borgnine. The love of his life is Mexican actress Katy Jurado.

"Katy and I will be married in September, just as soon as my divorce becomes final," he announced. "We'll have a civil ceremony here and a church wedding in Mexico." The latter is possible, he said, because her first marriage was to a divorced man and his was to a non-Roman Catholic. After the wedding, they will make their home in Mexico and maintain an apartment here for when they are making movies. LIKES MEXICO

"We've got a lot in Cuernavaca and another in Acapulco, and we plan to build homes on both," he said. "I like living down there. The Mexican people have a way of life that is entirely different from ours. Here, we work like crazy, we fight the traffic on the freeway, we hurry home for that before-dinner martini so we can calm our nerves."

"Life isn't that rushed in Mexico. The people there know how to relax and enjoy the pleasant things of living. I go down there tense and keyed up from working. Soon I learn to take it easy."

"When I visited Katy's parents to ask for her hand, I got up in the morning and made my bed and straightened the room. She had to tell me never to do it again. I was making the servants very unhappy."

Whether Ernie will have time to enjoy the manana life is problematical. In the last few months he has gone from making The Rabbit Trap here to Summer of the 17th Doll in Australia to Man on a String in Berlin.

Council Extends Shorts Ban To Private Property

If the members of the Sherbrooke City Council have their way, the wearing of "short shorts" will be prohibited not only on the city streets but also on private properties where such properties are exposed to other homes or the street.

Despite bitter opposition from Protection Committee chairman, Ald. Everett Nicol, who claimed the amendment could never be enforced, the aldermen last night adopted in principle an amendment to the by-law restricting the wearing of shorts. However, the by-law must still be drawn up for actual adoption at the next council session.

The only time shorts are now permissible is when they make up part of a military uniform or sports uniform on playgrounds as long as they are not more than two inches above the knee.

"All that this amendment will do will be to give us publicity. It cannot be enforced," said Ald. Nicol.

According to Mayor Nadeau, this bylaw is applicable not only on city streets but also on private properties because "When one lives in a society, one must adopt social ways of life."

"Shorts are a good thing," said Ald. Nicol. "But some women overdo it."

TIGHT JEANS

Ald. Nicol said that tight jeans today's teenagers are wearing are worse than short shorts.

"This is what you should put into the bylaw," said Mr. Nicol, "but how can you have such a bylaw enforced?"

"Morals are not only for the city council," replied the mayor, "they are for every decent person in the city. A city is not a beach."

"As far as I am concerned," Ald. Nicol asserted, "99% of today's women wear decent shorts. It is that one woman in a hundred that spoils it for others."

Mayor Nadeau said that if the Sherbrooke Country Club passed a law preventing the wearing of short shorts the city certainly can.

Discussing the wearing of shorts on private properties, Mayor Nadeau told Ald. Paul Gervais that people can be as indecent on their own property as on the street.

"You sometimes see women spread out on their lawn with little on while all about are houses and apartment blocks," said the mayor.

"Do you mean to say that I will not be able to wear a pair of shorts on my own property?" asked Ald. Nicol.

"That's right," said the mayor. "I think that you are going a little too far," said the North Ward alderman.

"You can arrest someone who is seen drinking on the street but you can't arrest a person who is seen drinking on his own private property," said Ald. Nicol. "The wearing of shorts is the same thing."

"You may be at home as far as property is concerned," said the mayor, "but morals exist in the home as well as on the streets."

Although the amendment has been adopted in principle, it has yet to be drawn up and presented for adoption at next week's council meeting.

Court Record Onerous, Judge Tells Accused

A suspended sentence was handed out by Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday in Magistrate's court after Gerard Raymond, of Richmond, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing an electric saw. He was told by Judge Hayes that the only reason he was given a suspended sentence was because "of your wife and child, your mother and that I do not think that you are a thief."

"It is hard to give a young man a criminal record," said the judge, "because he has to drag it with him all through life."

"Today's generation does not seem to understand what a record means," said the judge.

"I heard that you are married," said Judge Hayes.

"Yes, and I have a little girl," added Raymond.

"How would you like your little girl to find out when she grows up that you had a record?" No answer.

"I also heard that your mother has been in the hospital on account of your arrest," said the judge.

"I am very sympathetic when it comes to mothers," added the judge.

"If you keep on hurting your mother," he concluded "bad luck will certainly follow you."

Defer Sentence

Claude Valliere, of Bromptonville, was remanded for sentence until June 1, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday.

Valliere stole $50 worth of scrap iron from Riva Deziel of Bromptonville near the end of April.

Heifer Sold For $5,700 By MacLeod

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — An eight-month-old heifer calf was the sensation at the National Holstein Sale here Monday. It sold for $5,700.

The national is the oldest established annual livestock sale in Canada and only one female in its 41-year history ever exceeded this price.

This was in 1920 when Riverdale Rose brought $6,000. She was a mature cow, whereas Monday's sale topper, Rosalee Sovereign Vale, sold by W. K. MacLeod of Disraeli, Que., and bought by Bad Jeltou of Healdsburg, Calif., was a calf.

Mr. MacLeod bought her dam for $7,000 at the Rosalee dispersal sale here last year.

Altogether 60 head realized $63,210 for a general average of $1,053, the highest at a Canadian sale so far this year.

Only four bulls were sold, bringing an average of $2,700 each. Top price was $4,000 paid by Lionel Baril, Princeville, Que., to Glenafon Farms, Alliston, Ont., for the eight-month-old bull calf Glenafon Stalward.

Eight milking females averaged $1,793 each and 49 bred heifers $988 each.

Six Break-ins Reported From District Monday

Six break-ins were reported by Sherbrooke and district police today, five in Magog and one in Sherbrooke, netting burglars a grand total of only $71.

The first reported from Magog concerned a home and four garages. A television set was taken from the home and the soft-drink vending machines in the garages were rifled. Chief Telephone Laviole of Magog said this morning that the break-ins may have occurred sometime Sunday night.

In Sherbrooke last night, burglars managed to enter the residence of Eddy Laflamme, 1273 Lincoln, but managed to get away with only $50 in small change.

Police officials in Sherbrooke stated today that they had investigated following an anonymous telephone call.

The thieves were not apprehended, although Chief Edouard Moreau hinted this morning that an arrest would be made shortly.

Swimming Pool Filtration Plan Wins General Council Support

Following a long and heated discussion last night on the proposal to install a $22,700 filtration plant to permit the Optimist Club to erect a swimming pool in Assumption Parish, Council members postponed their final decision to a special meeting to be held Thursday night.

Despite strong objections by Recreation Committee Chairman Antonio Pinard the aldermen generally appeared favorable to the project.

A number of minor points in connection with the parks and playgrounds loan by-law also came up for review at Thursday night's meeting.

Objecting to the installation of a filtration system for the swimming pool, Ald. Pinard said that "Seeing that this pool is to be for children only, we should construct a wading pool. Small children will not be able to swim because the water will be too deep."

"The Optimists want to build the pool for older children also, those up to 17 years old," said Ald. Gerard Berard.

"All we want there is a wading pool," repeated Ald. Pinard.

"Yes, but we are building some," replied Alds. Berard and Nicol.

"If this project would be in my ward, I would fight it," added Mr. Pinard.

"All that the Optimist club did was to offer you a pool, if you don't want it, say so and they won't build it," added Ald. Nicol.

Ald. Carrier Fortin at this point asked Council members if the Optimists knew they would need a filter.

"I don't think they thought of that," said Ald. Berard.

Director of services Charles Langlois, said that a portable filtration system costing about $7,000 and brought to the attention of the city council by the Optimist club meant that the city would have to spend extra money for the installation of piping, electricity and other works.

"There is no cheap way of filtering a swimming pool," said Ald. Nicol.

"We would need $22,700 to finish the pool," said Mr. Langlois. "Deep down, once you study the problem, it is not a very big donation the Optimist club want to make," said Ald. Carl Camirand.

ANOTHER CLUB

Ald. Fortin said that "Another service club should get into the act and split the costs with the Optimist club."

"The Optimist club could build the swimming pool while the other service club could pay for the filtration system."

"If the Optimists had not offered to build a pool we would have been obliged to build a wading pool."

The cost of a wading pool would have been $18,000 said Mr. Langlois.

Mayor Nadeau, joined the discussion when he said that the parish priest from Assumption parish claimed that they would lose children between the ages of 16 to 18 years old if only a wading pool were built.

"Let us put in a filtration system, a fence around the pool and cabins. Next year, we can do the rest of the work" added the mayor.

"If a wading pool cost $18,000 all we would have to do would be to add $4,000 to this amount, and give the Optimists the filtration system and they will build their pool," concluded Ald. Fortin.

Train Kills Man And Boy Drowns

A youngster was drowned and a man killed by a train in separate accidents in Sherbrooke last night.

Dead are: Wade Coates, 6, of 867 Esplanade Street, who was drowned in the river near his home.

Clifford Ross, 38, of 433 Marquette Street, who was killed when struck by a CNR train near the Queen Blvd., Brompton Road intersection.

Police said they were notified of the Coates drowning at 7.50 p.m. yesterday.

First on the scene was Marcel Lemire, 26, of 1225 Esplanade, who was pitching horseshoes nearby with friends. He pulled the child out of the water under the King St. West bridge.

The Coates family was to be evicted from their apartment today. A moving van arrived at the house this morning but a neighbor was able to have the eviction postponed.

Ross died shortly before 10 p.m. when he was struck by a south-bound CNR train on the curve near the city limits. He had apparently fallen on the tracks.

Engineer A. T. Kennedy told police he saw Ross on the tracks in the beam of his headlight but could not stop the train in time.

Bids On Parking Lot Ramp Below Engineer's Estimate

Tenders for the Meadow street parking lot ramp which were called for by city council members at the March 31 council meeting, were made public last night by Jacques Lemieux, P. Eng., who said that the Vincent et Freres Const. company estimated the work at $21,463.

According to Mr. Lemieux, this is $3,000 lower than his own estimate.

The proposed ramp, which would be 139 feet long and 12 feet wide with a four foot sidewalk, would start from King street West to the second storey of the Meadow street parking lot.

The ramp would be between the LaSalle Hotel and the CNR tracks and would be made of reinforced concrete in which electric elements to melt the snow during the winter months would be installed, together with lighter overhead lamps.

Mr. Lemieux said that of the four local companies asked to submit tenders only J. W. Roy, Ltd., builders of the parking lot and Vincent et Freres replied.

J. W. Roy called for $22,438, while Vincent called for $21,463.

These tenders included all above mentioned works and installations, but excluded the removal of a steel post on the CNR property which would cost $800.

According to Ald. J. M. Jean-son, the project seems "very reasonable."

It was decided by Council members to "study the project."

Wives Support Optimists Club Peanut Campaign

Wives of the Sherbrooke Optimists have offered their services in an attempt to boost sales in the forthcoming Peanut Day campaign June 12 and 13.

The ladies made the offer at a Ladies' Night meeting of the Optimist Club last evening.

Arrangements for the dance at the Belvedere st. Armory to be held Saturday, June 13, in connection with Peanut Day are progressing. Dance Chairman, Ren Scheib said.

Music will be supplied by D.J.'s Gordie Breen and Wally Trudeau.

Club members and their wives will go to Ottawa this weekend for in District Optimist Convention.

Discussion of the swimming pool project was deferred until the next meeting, as the City Council were meeting at the same time to make a decision on a filtration system necessary for the construction of the pool proposed by the Optimists.

It was learned today that the Council had decided to finance the construction of such a filtration system.

NEW HOUSING

Starts Down Says Survey

OTTAWA (CP) — An independent survey forecasts that housing starts in Canada this year will be sharply below a federal government prediction of 140,000.

The survey, conducted by the 2,500-member National House Builders Association, places starts at 63,000, about 55 per cent below the federal forecast.

Housing starts in Canada last year rose to 164,632, aided by unprecedented government lending for housing of $373,000,000.

However, association officials at a one-day meeting here Monday expressed concern about the apparent lack of mortgage money available for housing.

They said there is a dearth of funds even though the federal government is in the housing loan business. Banks did not appear interested because of the low interest rate on mortgage money.

A resolution was approved by the executive to take preliminary steps toward formation of a National House Builders Association Mortgage Corporation. Such a project would create a secondary mortgage market in an attempt to stabilize mortgages and give builders a way to plan ahead on construction.

Church Land Is Offered Council At Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND — At a meeting of the past and present wardens of Our Lady of Mercy Church here last night it was decided to offer to sell approximately 6,000 square feet of land in the front of the Church and the rectory to the Rock Island Town Council for $4,500.

The proposal was approved by the parishioners who attended the meeting.

The Town Council need the land for the widening of Wyman st.

To date the church authorities have made other proposals but all have been rejected by the Council.

This latest proposal will come before a special meeting of the Council to be called by Mayor R. E. Fregeau.

Union Asks For Quotas On Textiles

OTTAWA (CP) — The textile workers union will appeal today for government restrictions on imports of low-priced textiles.

The request, coupled with a suggestion that a quota system be used, will be put to Prime Minister Diefenbaker during his noon meeting with officials of the Textile Workers Union of America (CLC).

J. Harold Daoust of Toronto, Canadian head of the 21,000-member union, opened the union's three-day biennial meeting here Monday by warning that the Canadian industry is threatened by surplus United States textile production and by low-priced imports from Japan, India and Communist China.

Mr. Daoust added: "To the eternal discredit of both the Conservative and Liberal administrations . . . both have turned their backs on the specific proposals of our union for the stabilization and rehabilitation of the industry and its workers."

New Constitution Impractical

It is appropriate that one of the leading legal minds in the province should propose that the British North America Act should be scrapped and replaced by a new Canadian constitution. Lawyers, after all, are the people best equipped to delve into the complicated mass of constitutional problems involved and Professor Frank Scott of McGill is an expert in this field. The difficulty lies, however, not in the law of the land but in its politics and it is this feature of the Canadian scene which makes Professor Scott's proposal impractical.

The Canadian constitution, as represented by the British North America Act, is by no means perfect. It is, as all such documents must be, the result of hard negotiation and compromise. And through interpretation in the courts, its meaning has been altered.

As it stands today, the BNA Act is a document which not only establishes a federal system of government but gives the provinces certain inalienable rights. But Sir John A. MacDonald, who was the chief architect of Confederation, was a centralist. His views would not be popular today with many provincial premiers.

The BNA Act was given its present form largely through interpretation by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the United Kingdom. This body settled a number of cases in the first decades after Confederation in such a way as to strengthen the claims of the provinces to prior rights. Constitutional disputes are now settled by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Professor Scott says the BNA has many outmoded provisions and undoubtedly he is right. But to get the governments of the 10 provinces and the federal government to agree on a new constitution might prove to be an almost impossible task.

Differences as to the proper function and responsibility of the federal and provincial government may depend on whether one is sitting in Ottawa or one of the provincial capitals. They also stem from quite different conceptions of the nature of Confederation, from legalistic or philosophical points of view. There are also political differences and, in some notable cases in our history, personal animosities.

The rights of the provinces may have been eroded by the encroachments of Ottawa or provincial rights may be outdated by the atomic age. But written constitutions tend to be rigid and unless adequate provision for amendment is provided, it may be better to let the courts decide constitutional issues as they arise as they have in the past.

It Takes Two Sides...

Neither side likes to admit it, but both liberals (small l) and conservatives (small c) are necessary to have around in a free society. Each side often regards the other with "impatience, annoyance, and, at the extremes downright suspicion."

Conservatives run a course from absolute standpatters to those who favor gradual forward motion, respectful of tradition and eager to preserve the best of what we have. However, large-C Conservatives in Canada have in the past two years managed to dominate the centre of the political stage, spreading to the left as well as to the right, to the dismay of their political opponents.

Liberals begin with an urge to action and range from those who want to move at moderate speeds to those who favor a breakneck pace that may sweep everything before it.

In almost every given major or minor issue these differences will become apparent in the arguments advanced.

Right now, for instance, on the Berlin matter under discussion at Geneva, you'll hear at one end those who want to do nothing and at the other those who would take risks with free world security to get a break in the East-West stalemate.

One extreme thinks even dealing with Russia is intolerable. The other believes that not breaking the log jam is intolerable.

The record of history indicates that most of the time attitudes like these do not prevail. Action tends to be slow, moderate, hesitant, often even grudging. The exceptions are those times when neglected problems and difficulties have created pent-up forces which blow the lid off.

The liberal who wants the millennium tomorrow will never have his way. Nor will the conservative who wants to hold time dead in its tracks. The course of history will fall somewhere between.

Yet each serves his purpose. Without the clarion calls from the "far out" liberal, there might not be as much forward movement as there is.

Without the stubborn warning of the stand pater, there might be too much hasty, ill-considered, intemperate action.

SILVER SPOON FOR LINDA

(Toronto Telegram)
There's something of the Cinderella magic in the heart-warming story of Linda Hambly, the orphan who found a home and became heiress to a million dollars.

Linda was an orphan when she was two. She had no shining silver spoon in which to see the reflections of a secure and happy future.

Then, in the odd way that life has of balancing triumphs and tribulations, along came a fairy godmother, a woman who wanted to adopt Linda as her own child—and did.

The woman was Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hambly, now Mrs. G. W. O'Brien of Vancouver. She is the daughter of the late Toronto financier Charles Blackwell and both she and her brother received fortunes in his will that would later go to hospitals and charities if they had no children.

Linda, however, is an adopted child and her right to succeed, if she survives her adoptive mother, had to be decided in court, with the alternative beneficiaries, Toronto General Hospital and the Hospital for Sick Children, pressing their case to succeed.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer ruled that 1958 amendments to the Child Welfare Act stipulated that an adopted child becomes the child of the adopted parents "for all purposes." All, he said, is a simple, plain, clear and comprehensive word.

Judicial decisions are always proper, but not always popular. This decision is popular and human and applaudable.

It is unfortunate that such excellent hospitals should not benefit, but there is no doubt that the decision was in keeping with what Linda's mother and uncle wanted.

Bovine TB

Nearly Eliminated By Campaign

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — A 65-year campaign to eradicate bovine tuberculosis in Canada, once the cause of much TB among humans, is expected to reach its long-range goal next year.

By then all of Canada's 11,000,000 cattle will have been tested and infected animals slaughtered. The final cleanup operations in this weeding-out process will centre in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland.

Recent figures by the agriculture department showed five per cent of cattle in Canada remained to be tested for tracks of the disease, which can be transmitted to humans through unpasteurized milk or improperly cooked beef.

cept a tip.
But too many people are letting dignity suffer for a few extra kopeks or a ruble or two, says Soviet Culture, a newspaper. It singled out program sellers at Moscow stadiums.

Although programs sell for 30 or 40 kopeks — 3 or 4 cents at the tourist rate—the program sellers handed a one-ruble (10 cent) note often profess not to have change.

Kopeks are coins. Except for 15-kopek pieces for use in pay telephones and 20-kopek pieces to pay bus fares, a Muscovite does not like to carry a pocketful of coins.

But the real money-makers, Soviet Culture says, are the employees who run the coat-and-hat checking concessions, especially in hotels.

Enter a Moscow hotel and unless you are staying in the lobby or going to your own room, you are supposed to hand over coat and hat. There is no carrying your stuff into the restaurant or cafe. And that goes for women as well as men.

Soviet Culture got a confession from one cloakroom attendant that on an ordinary night his tipping take runs to 60 or 70 rubles—but that on a rush night he can count on more than 200 rubles.

There did not seem to be any shame in the man's avowal. He just is not turning down tips.

Dr. R. J. McClenaghan, the department's chief veterinarian, said it is hoped the testing program will be completed by next year.

Meanwhile, bovine TB has almost disappeared from Canadian farms. Early tests found as many as 29 per cent of cattle infected in some areas. Now in the country as a whole fewer than two in every 1,000 cattle are found to have the disease.

The battle against the disease began in a small way in 1895 when free tests were made available to Canadian farmers.

The campaign moved into high gear in 1922 when the federal government adopted a new technique. Entire areas were declared restricted and movement of cattle in and out was controlled while herds in the area were tested. Infected animals were destroyed and their owners compensated by the government.

The final stage began some six years ago when all of Canada was declared a restricted area and the last drive against the disease was launched.

In the 12 months ended March 31, veterinarians tested 1,103,000 cattle and uncovered nearly 1,600 animals that reacted to the tuberculin test. Most of the animals still untested are in Alberta and Saskatchewan, with a few in Newfoundland.

There are no reliable figures on the long-range effect of the program on the incidence of tuberculosis among Canadians. But officials here say that the incidence of human TB attributed to infection from cattle "has practically disappeared."

Canada is among the world's leaders in eradicating bovine tuberculosis.

Dr. McClenaghan said the United States is the only North American country to have completed a testing program on all its cattle. The Scandinavian countries have reached the same goal, and the United Kingdom is expected to complete its program next year.

But European countries like France and Germany have had such a high level of infection in their herds that they have not attempted similar test-and-slaughter programs. In some South American countries, less than 10 per cent of cattle have been tested for the disease.

In the time of the Celts there were singers and poets who wandered from place to place with their instruments. They were called bards, and were found in Wales, Scotland, Ireland and England. There were three kinds of bards: those who sang in praise of religion and war, those who sang of the law and those who sang of national and family heroes.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — It's nearly a year since President Stewart Bates of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. tossed a friendly "put up or shut up" at the nation's architects. And this week they have to decide which it will be.

Last June Bates challenged the venerable and somewhat moribund Royal Architectural Institute of Canada to set up the equivalent of a royal commission to take a long, hard look at the architectural failures and other shortcomings which have made most of our post-war suburbs models of mediocrity. And he hinted the government would finance the inquiry.

The RAIC ignored the challenge for so long that it appeared a dead issue. Then in February a joint RAIC-CMHC committee on housing decided to needle the RAIC executive by endorsing the Bates proposal. Now the final decision is to be made by the RAIC Assembly, which will begin a four-day meeting at Windsor tomorrow.

If the assembly votes affirmatively, it will launch the RAIC into the broadest and most thorough inquiry that has ever been made into the shelter aspect of the Canadian way of life. The RAIC "royal commission" would hold public hearings across the country, making frank assessments of the whole gamut of urban growth ills, and trying to produce practical cures based on the best opinions of architects, builders, town planners, sociologists, lawyers, economists, land-use experts, tax experts and consumers.

This kind of inquiry could scarcely avoid cutting across federal, provincial and municipal jurisdictions. That is an argument for RAIC to undertake the job. The job badly needs doing, yet it would be politically embarrassing for the federal government to set up a royal commission to probe and criticize matters under other jurisdictions.

A second important argument for a professional rather than a governmental inquiry is that if real progress is to be made in upgrading Suburbia, the nation's architects must get more involved in the design of medium and low cost houses than they are at present.

"We want to get these architects into housing, and make them realize it's a money-making proposition," CMHC chief architect Ian MacLennan told me.

The consensus of informed opinion is that unless the architects seize this opportunity, they will continue to overlook or be overlooked by—the $1.5 billions a year business of building houses.

The reason it is necessary almost to shanghai architects into the field of medium and low cost housing appears to be that most architects are more interested in big public and commercial jobs, carrying big fees and public kudos, than in the problems of housing.

At the same time it would be less than fair not to admit that some architects rise to the housing challenge without the enticement of much dollar bait—partly as a civic and professional obligation; partly for the reason Sir Edmund Hillary climbed Mount Everest: it's there.

This minority—clamorous, opinionated, frustrated and yet grudgingly respected by all but the most ossified of architects will undoubtedly argue heatedly at Windsor for acceptance of the Bates challenge.

The moment of decision will be some sort of crossroads for Canada's architects: one road paved with big, lucrative contracts; the other leading to longer range returns, greater public service and greater psychic rewards. But the roads are parallel, and close enough that an architect of ability may travel both.

TAKE-OUT IS BETTER BID
Take a look at the North hand only. Everyone is vulnerable and West opens the bidding with one club. Do you pass, bid one no-trump or double?

In a recent team of four match one North player decided on a trap pass in the hope of eventually picking up a nice penalty. Unfortunately for his side East and West stayed out of trouble. East bid one diamond and West one spade. North passed again and so did everyone else. West made his contract and one over-trick.

At the other table North chose to double. South jumped to two hearts and North bid four hearts which was made without much trouble.

The result certainly favored the double as against the trap pass but the trapper still contends that his bidding was correct and the other North was just lucky. He also contends that when the bidding died at one spade his partner should have re-opened with a bid of two hearts, etc.

There is some merit to this North's contentions but I still will have to go along with the winner and recommend the double.

Headmaster Addresses Stanstead College Alumni

STANSTEAD — W. K. Molson, Headmaster of Stanstead College, was the principal speaker at the annual Alumni banquet and meeting held at the College Saturday evening and attended by present and past graduates.

Mr. Molson referred to the early history of the College which actually dates back to 1818 when the Stanstead Seminary was one of the first schools here (in 1872 the College took its place) and of the present expansion program, referring to the "master plan of bricks and mortar" for the future years, the present building program being a part of this plan.

He said the College has reached a certain objective in the expansion plan which has been achieved by the cooperation of the College Board of Trustees, Alumni and students, and it is hoped to have in the near future a new gymnasium which will

Davis Hall and the Junior boys residence, (now under construction) will provide for a closely knit school of approximately 160 students.

Mr. Molson spoke of the school societies and clubs, of which the Dramatic Club is the most popular; of the academic changes; the new library arrangement; the restored Pierce hall where Chapel is held daily; of the staff who are giving of themselves for the high standards of Stanstead College and of the prefects Council of which the Senior boys are the pioneers.

He said it is becoming increasingly important for independent schools to take their place in leadership and move with the times by specializing. Speaking to the graduates on "aims and ideals" he stated that religion and life should be joined and advised them not to look only for money or for social prestige. He was introduced by Gordon LeBaron and thanked by Roy Amaron.

The head table was arranged with red and white candles in silver candelabra, while at the back were vases of red and white carnations, carrying out the school colors. Head table guests were: Thayne McGilton, president of the Alumni, and Mrs. McGilton; Headmaster and Mrs. Molson; Miss Elsie McFadden; Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Rose; Gordon LeBaron, chairman of the Board of trustees, and Mrs. LeBaron; Miss Gertrude Ketcham; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peat; P. M. Poops; Porter Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGilton; Roy Amaron and Warren Joslin.

The Alma Mater was sung followed by Grace spoken by Rev. A. M. Rose. A brief report of the track meet held that day at Sherbrooke was given by the headmaster, where Stanstead College, one of the eleven teams participating, placed second.

Presiding at the business meeting was Mr. Thayne McGilton who asked all persons out of contact with the Alumni Association to forward their address to the general membership secretary, Miss Elsie McFadden, at the College.

Roy Amaron, 1st vice-president thanked all those who had made this event another successful affair, especially Mrs. Leonard McGilton, Philip Poops and those who had assisted them.

Warren Joslin, on behalf of the nominating committee presented the slate of officers: Roy Amaron, president; Douglas Currie, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Lynn May, secretary; Miss Gertrude Ketcham, treasurer; Miss Elsie McFadden, general membership secretary.

Area chairmen: Lacolle, Raymond Van Vliet; Montreal, G. Campbell; St. Maurice Valley, J. Goodacre; Sherbrooke, Mrs. Edson Warner; Stanstead, Philip M. Poops; Toronto, John Steiger.

Mayors Hold Meeting At Thetford Mines

THETFORD MINES. — On Saturday the closing meeting of the season before the Convention which will be held at Murray Bay, was held by the mayors of the Province of Quebec in Thetford Mines. This is the second time the mayors have held their meeting here, the first occasion being in May, 1950 at which time Mayor Horace Boivin of Granby was president of the group.

The day began with a meeting held in City Hall, under the chairmanship of this year's president, Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke. Following the meeting, the mayors with their wives and accompanied by a number of Thetford Mines dignitaries visited the pit at Lake Asbestos. They also visited the Mill at the Bell Asbestos mine where they were welcomed by George Smith and Herbert Smith.

The late afternoon was spent by the group at the Thetford Mines Golf and Curling Club, following which a dinner was served at the Hotel Manoir Herbert. The evening ended with dancing.

Among those seated at the head table for the dinner were Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke, president of the Directors de l'Union des Municipalités; Mayor Rodolphe Caouette of Thetford Mines and host of the group; Dr. J. Emile Fortin, M.P.P.; Gabriel Roberge, M.P.; Mayor Maurice Cousineau of Ville St. Laurent; Mayor C. A. Roussin of Joliette; Mrs. G. Roberge, Mrs. R. Caouette, Mrs. Armand Nadeau and Mrs. C. A. Roussin.

Cheap Money Era Over Says Banker

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — The era of cheap money which began in the 1930s has for the foreseeable future come to an end, N. J. McKinnon, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, said Monday night in an address to the Porcupine district chamber of commerce.

"A high rental value for money," Mr. McKinnon said, "is part of an economy bursting with investment, with rising living standards, more leisure and so on in the now-familiar view of the Gordon commission report."

"Cheap money is a symptom of depression, not prosperity; of stagnation, not growth."

MODERN MOVEMENT

PRAGUE (Reuters) — The two-dial clock on the tower of St. Vitus Cathedral at Prague Castle, which dates from the 16th century will be electrified. Until now the clock has had to be wound twice daily.

INTERIM SOLUTION

was planned for this afternoon before all four foreign ministers flew to Washington for the funeral of John Foster Dulles.

Meanwhile, Western diplomats reported these developments:

British, American, French and West German experts are bringing up to date the agreement governing Big Four control of divided Berlin. The idea is to adapt it to serve as a basis for a new accord.

NEW BERLIN DEAL

East German officials, clearly with Russian consent, are circulating informally a plan for a new Berlin deal that calls for Western recognition of the East German regime's authority in and around parts of the city.

Publicly, the West still stands on its call for free elections that would unite West and East Berlin just as the Russians officially still demand that West Berlin be made a demilitarized city unprotected by Western garrisons.

Present thinking — as outlined by Western and Communist sources — suggests that West and East in the future negotiations may be able to meet on a number of points.

ACCESS CONTROL

Here are some examples:

Control of access routes — The West reluctantly would recognize the East Germans as Soviet agents along the air, land and water lanes to Berlin. But Russia would have to guarantee the Western rights of access. The Communists don't like the "agents" idea.

A United Nations role in Berlin — The Western powers have already asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld what part the UN could play. He has said that it would be as observers only in the city and along the routes to Berlin. The Reds would accept UN observers in West Berlin but not at traffic control points.

The U.S.-British-French garrisons in West Berlin — The West would consider token cuts. The Communists want only a token force to remain.

Spying and propaganda activities in Berlin — The West and East Germans would agree to stop this sort of thing.

Air flights into Berlin — The West wants the right of unrestricted numbers of flights. The Reds would like to curtail the number of flights and set a ceiling on the height the planes may fly.

The conference Monday produced another Soviet blast at Western military activities and another rebuke in reply from U.S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko accused the West of converting West Germany "into a runway for atomic bombers and a launching site for rockets." Herter retorted that East Germany is rearming at a greater pace than West Germany.

Spring Snow

CALGARY (CP) — An Arctic weather system brought a sharp reduction in temperatures and to six inches of snow Sunday night and early Monday to some parts of southern Alberta. Hardest hit was Blairmore, near Crossed Pass, where close to six inches fell.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — By the start of summer vacation time for federal employees the government pensions institute expects to have loaned out about $8,000,000 for individual holiday expenses.

CABINET ROLE

for such action at present. "The government is asking for power by order-in-council to take action which, it says, is not necessary now and may not be necessary in future," said Mr. Pearson. "That power is to be used against one commercial import singled out from thousands of others."

This was "an astonishing request" by a government whose members were mostly men who argued strongly against such cabinet power in their opposition days.

"BETRAYAL" — "And what a betrayal of all the brave and emotional words used by members of the Conservative party during the debate on the Defence Production Act in 1955."

(Conservatives then vigorously opposed former Liberal trade minister C. D. Howe's request for special powers to be used in case of a national emergency. Eventually, a five-year limitation was put on the powers.)

"Where are the memories of the impassioned appeals to the rights and privileges of Parliament of those days?" demanded Mr. Pearson. "Where are the Parliamentary flag-wavers?"

He wondered why the government would not have time to consult Parliament should it decide in future to restrict oil imports.

The Doctor Says

Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

SURGERY IS ONLY KNOWN WAY TO GET RID OF GALL STONES

Mr. E. writes that X-rays have shown that his wife's gall bladder is filled with small stones. The doctor, he says, had advised an operation, but Mr. E. wants to know if there is not some way to dissolve the stones and eliminate the need for surgery.

The question of stones in the gall bladder is an important and interesting one to many people. The first question which comes to mind is what causes gallstones to form and whether anything can be done to prevent them.

Up to now the causes are rather obscure. There is no way known by which one can always prevent their formation by diet or other means. It must also be said that unfortunately as yet there is no way by which gallstones can be dissolved with confidence once they have formed.

Stagnation or slowing of the flow of bile through the gallbladder is believed to favor the formation of gallstones. Although no one knows exactly why stagnation should occur, such things as excessive fatness, lack of exercise, wearing of corsets, sagging of the abdominal organs and bad posture may slow the bile flow.

Whatever the cause for the formation of gallstones, they become increasingly common after 30 and are most frequent between 40 and 50. About three-fourths of all cases are in women.

Gallstones can get caught in the duct or passageway leading out of the gall bladder and produce severe pain and blockage to the flow of bile. Unless this happens, the symptoms of gallstones are likely to be rather mild, at least at first.

The most common is "indigestion." A sense of fullness in the abdomen and a vague feeling of discomfort may be the first signs.

Sometimes nausea and vomiting, with an increase in the amount of intestinal gas, is the principle complaint. At times there is some pain in the region of the gall bladder and this may be felt also in the back under the right shoulder blade.

Gallstones usually can be detected by means of X-rays. Some of them can be found by a simple X-ray plate of the gall bladder region.

In most cases, however, a special dye or coloring matter has to be given to the patient which is eliminated through the gall bladder. An X-ray taken at the proper time after taking this dye should show any gallstones present. The stones appear as a silhouette against the dye.

If stones are producing any symptoms — and even sometimes when they are not — operation to remove them and the entire gall bladder must be contemplated.

Whether operation is desirable or not requires a good deal of judgment, including analysis of the X-ray studies, the symptoms, age, and the general physical condition of the patient.

In other words, surgery is sometimes a divided and sometimes not, depending on the individual circumstances and the opinion of the doctor.

Peace Tower Carillon Concerts Popular

by HELEN M. STEARNS
(A Parliamentary Wife)

The Carillon in the Peace Tower of the Houses of Parliament, was installed by authority of Parliament to commemorate the peace of 1918, in remembrance of the service and sacrifice of Canadian in the Great War. It consists of 53 bells of exceptional purity of tone, cast and tuned in the foundry of Gillett & Johnston, Croydon, England. The largest bell weighs 22,400 pounds, and is pitched to E; the smallest weighs 10 pounds and is pitched to A, four and one-half octaves above. The instrument is played from a wooden keyboard after the Flemish system of three centuries use. It was inaugurated on Dominion Day (July 1st), 1927, at the celebration of the sixteenth anniversary of Confederation.

ROBERT DONNELL

Robert Donnell, the Dominion Carillonist, received his musical training in Canada, the United States and Europe. He was appointed carillonist at the Cutten Memorial Carillon in Guelph, Ontario, where, as a young boy, he became interested in the Carillon. He gave his first recital in Ottawa, as guest carillonist, during the Imperial Conference, in 1938. He graduated from the Mechlin Carillon School in Belgium, and was appointed Dominion Carillonist in 1939.

He has given recitals in Holland, Belgium and North America and has been featured on several world broadcasts. He served, during the war, with the Royal Canadian Air Force for over three years, and was appointed musical advisor to the Guild of Carillonists in North America from 1946 to 1949 and as president of this musical organization for 1950 to 1952.

RECITALS

Recitals are given during all seasons of the year. The programs for the coming summer will shortly be issued. The best place to hear the concerts is on the lawn in front of the House of Parliament. Motor cars may be parked within the grounds, provided they arrive before recital time. All recitals are concluded with the playing of O Canada and God Save the Queen. The crowds on the lawn are never below 1,500. The Tourist Bureau receives many enquiries about the bells, and many tourists stay over a day or so just to hear their music.

MUSIC

Mr. Donnell has over 200 selections all arranged by him for this particular Carillon. He has composed among other music, "This Canada of Ours", and his selections cover a wide range from folk songs to light and serious opera, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky and Mozart. He plays on a six foot keyboard, striking the wooden pegs with his fists and pounding the pedals with his feet for the base notes. He is known as the "Man in the Tower". He practices on a similar keyboard in a sound-proof room near his studio in the Tower.

The Ottawa bells are tuned on the Five-Tone Harmonic Principle, known to English ringers as the "Simpson" principle, so that each bell is in tune with "itself" as well as all the others, to the scale of equal temperament and to International pitch. A wreath, intended for maple leaves is around the top of the great bell, while around the bottom of the bell are these words from the 2nd. Chapter of St. Luke's Gospel: "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace, good-will to men."

Salad Supper Draws Crowd At Lennoxville

Amid gleaming silver, multi-colored tulips were tastefully arranged in the Gertrude Scott Hall, Lennoxville, on Thursday afternoon, when members of the Philathea Group of the United Church held their annual Salad Bar supper and sale.

The numerous guests were greeted by the president of the group, Mrs. Harold Robertson, and Mrs. Douglas Hadlock, president of the Federation, Mrs. L. Parker acted as cashier.

Carrying out the spring time decor, the lace covered tea table was most attractive with its arrangement of bright colored tulips and colorful tapers in silver appointments. Presiding at the table during the afternoon were Mrs. W. Stanford and Mrs. W. P. Loweryson. Dainty nosegays of pansies and forget-me-nots in small silver vases centered the individual tea tables.

The dining room was under the convener'ship of Mrs. G. Taylor, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. F. Ross, Mrs. Curtis, Miss S. Beattie, Mrs. R. B. DeBlois and Mrs. L. Williams. Mrs. A. Raycraft and Mrs. D. Savage were in charge of the salad bar.

Kitchen duties were ably looked after by Mrs. A. H. Scott, assisted by Mrs. E. Walker, Mrs. G. Winslow and Mrs. R. Sutor. The ever popular table of home cooking was presided over by Mrs. R. Havard and Mrs. W. P. Loweryson. Mrs. G. M. Sutherland and Mrs. R. Pariseau dispensed a variety of practical and fancy aprons.

Mrs. H. Worster, Mrs. H. L. Wallace and Mrs. W. G. Ross were in charge of fancy work, novelties and plants, with Mrs. F. Ross and Mrs. R. F. L. Cohoon presiding over a table of knitted articles and sewing. Mrs. J. Sarrafin sold cards for all occasions and various gift suggestions.

Things to Remember to Keep Middle Years 'Magnificent'

Dr. Smiley Blanton who has written a book "Now or Never: The Promise of the Middle Years" refers to the years between youth and old age as the "magnificent middle years."

It's a nice-sounding phrase—but does it really mean anything? They can be and they are magnificent if—

You don't strive to imitate the young but are quite willing to act your age.

You have learned the all important lesson that you and you alone are responsible for your own happiness.

You have begun to learn how to conserve your strength and budget your time so that you have both the hours and the energy for the things you really want to do.

You have given up the idea that the world should revolve around you and are happy to be a small frog in a big puddle.

You realize that life is too short to be spent regretting the past, trying to change other people or carrying on personal feuds.

You know that it is much more satisfying to work for a sense of personal achievement than to knock yourself out trying to impress others. You are eager to try new things and aren't afraid to take a chance or risk failure. You still find learning exciting. You don't assume that because you have never done a thing you aren't capable of doing it.

Mrs. R. D. Wells Feted Prior Departure By I.O.D.E. Members

A very delightful event took place at the tea hour following the May meeting of the Aldershot Chapter, I.O.D.E., when Mrs. R. D. Wells was honored prior to her departure from Sherbrooke.

Pale green tapers and spring flowers ornamented the tea table which was centered with a beautifully decorated cake Mrs. George Smith, regent, thanked Mrs. Wells, on behalf of the Chapter, for her faithful service to the Order, and presented her with a corsage of variegated carnations. Mrs. A. A. Munster, honorary regent of the Chapter, then presented her with a cup and saucer, paying tribute to Mrs. Wells' devotion not only to Aldershot Chapter but also to Municipal Chapter, of which she was educational secretary.

At the business meeting which preceded the presentation, Mrs. F. Barton-Slater was welcomed as a guest. The regent thanked those who had taken part in the Birthday Tea and in the recent rummage sale, both of which had been a success.

It was decided that a Fall tea would be held October 3, a chicken salad supper being planned. The educational report was given by Mrs. Wells, and the treasurer was authorized to send in the Chapter's share of the Elizabeth Thomson and Elizabeth S. Hume Bursaries. Mrs. R. Wheeler, who is replacing Mrs. Wells, as educational secretary, was asked to inform the principal of Lawrence School that the Chapter wished to present silver dollars for industry and effort to each room of that school at the closing exercises of the school.

The Chapter agreed to support Municipal Chapter in its drawing of a filled cedar chest, proceeds from which would be applied to the house account. The members were asked to support the Tag Days being held May 29 and 30, and to procure their boxes and tags from the regent. The hostesses for the refreshment hour were Mrs. J. Lafreniere and Mrs. C. Hillard.

FOSTER — Mrs. and Mrs. J. Taylor of Austin were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ernest Taylor.

Portuguese Halt Nationalistic Move In Angola

By LYNN HEINZERLING
 LUANDA, Portuguese Angola (AP) — The Portuguese government, in a hair-raising show of force, has told the Angola Negro in effect: The "black nationalism" movement sweeping across Africa comes to a dead end here.

The government sent from Lisbon a brigade of parachute troops and planes. The parachutists, armed with sub-machine-guns, were dropped out of the sky at selected points where they would be seen by the largest number of Negroes. Other planes dropped incendiary napalm and high-fragmentation bombs. Fighter-bombers screamed down with machine-guns chattering.

The noise alone was enough to make the primitive nations shudder. Napalm bombs make a deep impression on people who live in thatched houses.

Portuguese ground troops normally are stationed here along with small naval forces. Now an air command is being established, and other air units are to be stationed in Mozambique, the Portuguese province on the east coast of Africa.

Careful observers here say most of Angola's 5,000,000 Negroes haven't heard about the independence movement in Africa, and don't care much anyway.

NO ORGANIZED MOVEMENT
 In any event, the secret police system here is said to be one of the most efficient in Africa, with many native informers.

Censorship is in operation, and little news of developments in other parts of Africa leaks through.

Portuguese settlers have toiled for four centuries to make Angola a mirror of the homeland. They have no intention of being deflected from their task.

"We will never leave Africa," a government spokesman said.

A Portuguese businessman made obeisance to the realities in Africa today and reflected the growing uneasiness when he said:

"We would be the last to leave Africa."

There is no organized movement toward nationhood in Angola, at least above the surface. And it is unlikely that there ever will be as long as the police maintain their present efficiency.

Portuguese explorers opened up this part of the African coast in the 15th century. Progress has been slow, but the tempo has quickened in recent years as Angola poured out its riches—coffee, diamonds, fish products, sisal, sugar, cotton, oil.

There is no racial discrimination as such. White and Negro are on an equal footing as far as the law is concerned, although in practice most Negroes are in inferior positions because of their lack of higher education.

The official policy is assimilation. But it works slowly.

Fuller At Home To Windsor Cardinals In Junior Baseball Opener Tonight

President Fortier's Circuit To Get Underway At 7.30 Audette To Face Lefty Claude Couture Of Windsor

Windsor Cardinals and Fuller of Sherbrooke, both heavy favorites in the Sherbrooke Junior Baseball League, clash this evening at the local park in the postponed opening tilt of Marie-Louis Fortier's circuit. The game was originally booked for last Sunday but the inclement weather forced President Fortier to postpone it.

Mayor Armand Nadeau is slated to toss out the first ball and he will be accompanied by other outstanding figures in local sporting circles. Alderman Tony Pinard, chairman of Parks, and Gaston Lebrun, superintendent of the City playgrounds and Parks, will also be on hand.

The game is scheduled to commence at 7.30 and a close battle is expected before a winner emerges out of the clash. Claude Couture of Windsor seems to be the logical choice to face the Fuller aggregation.

The ace lefty is one of the top hurlers in the loop and Manager George Guilbault of Windsor is counting heavily on him to keep the Cards in the thick of the battle this summer.

Manager Hamel of Fuller wouldn't name his starting pitcher until tonight but it seems that Maurice Audette will get the nod for mound duty. The rest of the team appears to be the same as named for Sunday's opener. Hugues Brunelle and Gagnon are two newcomers to Fuller.

The Cardinals have a complete roster and have been working out for the past couple of weeks and should give a good account of themselves. Jean Codere will be behind the plate while Roger Couture will start on the mound. Onil Bibeau is at first, Georges Guilbault Jr., second with Marcel Belanger at short. The hot-cornel will have Majella Dubois on duty. In the outfield Albert Dupuis, Marcel Verreault and Bob Kendall will attend to the long balls.

Claude Dupuis, Andre Dupuis, Roland Larochelle and Michel Raymond are the other hurlers on the Cardinal staff. Georges Guilbault will be the field manager. Michel Raymond is the only member of the club.

Tokyo And Innsbruck Selected As Olympic Sites For Summer And Winter Games; Calgary Rejected

MUNICH, Germany (CP)—Tokyo was chosen today as the site for the 1964 Olympic Games. The Austrian Alpine town of Innsbruck was chosen over the Canadian city of Calgary for the winter Olympics.

It will be the first time the Olympics have been held in the Orient.

The selection of Tokyo was a popular decision. Most delegates appeared to sympathize with the Japanese argument that Oriental nations have been going west for years to take part in Olympic Games but that the Western countries never had gone to the Orient.

Calgary in its losing bid for the winter games collected nine of the 58 votes in the International Olympic Committee. Innsbruck, which lost by one vote to Squaw Valley, Calif., for the 1960 games, collected the other 49 ballots. Under Calgary's plan winter events would have been held for the most part at the Rocky Mountain resort of Banff.

Tokyo, in its bid to the committee for the summer games, said it had an Olympic village ready made at a place called Asaka, 12 miles from the main Olympic stadium.

The Japanese promised to include a full slate of events and proposed the addition of either judo or kendo, which is Japanese fencing.

For the major contests the Japanese planned to add to their new stadium so that it could provide for a capacity of 110,000.

Charlie Coe And Walker Cup Squad Set Hot Pace In British Amateur Golf Championship; Aaron Falts

SANDWICH, England (AP)—U.S. champion Charlie Coe and three of his Walker Cup teammates led a 10-man American advance Monday through the first round of the British Amateur golf championship. But a fifth team member, Tommy Aaron, fell in the first big upset of the tournament.

Aaron, 21-year-old collegian from Gainesville, Ga., lost a long and bitter match to Leslie Randall, little-known 48-year-old Englishman, who won with a birdie on the 21st hole.

Coe, captain of Uncle Sam's victorious Walker Cup forces, was joined in the second round by Jack Nicklaus, the 19-year-old sensation from Columbus, Ohio; Bill Hyndman III of Abington, Pa.; and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C. All won by overwhelming scores.

Six other U.S. players, a mixture of military personnel and vacationing business men, also came through with triumphs despite the chill 25 miles-per-hour winds which whipped over the Royal St. George's course from off the English Channel.

Nine additional Americans, including Walker Cupper Deane Beman of Silver Springs, Md., advanced on first round byes, giving the United States 19 representatives in the second round. Irish Joe Carr, the defending champion, and Guy Wolstenholme, English titleholder, also received byes.

Phillies And Giants Ahead In Attendance

NEW YORK (AP)—With approximately one-fourth of the season completed, all National League clubs except San Francisco Giants and Philadelphia Phillies are running behind their 1958 home attendance figures.

Through Sunday's games, the Giants showed an increase of 44,000 and the Phillies one of 20,000. The overall league deficit was 265,000.

Baseball • Detroit Tigers Vacate AL Cellar After 38-Day Stay, Jump Into Sixth By Edging Kansas City Athletics 4-3

It looks as though Detroit Tigers have had their fill of the American League cellar, leaving it as a booby prize in a two-game Boston-New York series opening tonight at Yankee Stadium.

The Tigers, who closed a 38-day stay in eighth place by plunking the Yankees into the cellar last week, slipped back to the bottom by losing the first game of a Sunday doubleheader at Cleveland. But they gave it back to New York's world champions by winning the nightcap.

Monday night they could have crashed in again with a defeat, but instead, jumped to sixth place for the first time since the second day of the season with a three-run seventh-inning rally that beat Kansas City 4-3.

SHUFFLE STANDINGS

It was the only game scheduled in the league, but shook up the middle of the standings. While slipping Boston to seventh, Detroit victory also dipped Kansas City to fifth as idle Washing-

Vince Amor Is Still Big Gun For Sugar Kings, Blanks Bisons With Neat One-Hitter; Red Wings Win

The Havana Sugar Kings, racked by rumors of a franchise shift and in the lower regions of the International League second division so far this season, now have a shouting piece.

He's Vince Amor, their 26-year-old right-handed pitcher, who has almost singlehandedly kept them from falling out of contention in the league race.

The native Hawaiian shined up a neat season pitching performance Monday with a one-hit, 2-0 shutout of the Buffalo Bisons to run his season mark to 6-2. Rochester lambasted league-leading Miami Marlins 10-0 in the only other game.

Amor gave up only Joe Caffie's second inning single. He walked three, hit a batter and struck out three in getting his second shutout.

In 66 2-3 innings, he has allowed only 45 hits, walked 17 and struck out 24. The Kings are now only four games out of first place, and only two out of the first division.

Doubles by Tony Gonzalez and Lou Skizas, sandwiched between two singles, got Havana its runs in the fourth inning off loser Chris Short (2-1).

Left-hander Marshal Bridges (2-3) walked a three-run homer and held Miami to five hits as his mates knocked out loser Jack Fisher (6-1) for the first time in seven starts. Fisher was tagged for nine hits and five runs in seven innings before giving way to a pinch hitter. Bridges struck out five and walked two.

Roberto Clemente Out For 30 Days

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Outfielder Roberto Clemente, the colorful Puerto Rican who was one of the key men in Pittsburgh Pirates' dash to second last season, was placed on the disabled list Monday. He will be out of action for 30 days.

Medical examination Saturday showed thickened and swollen tissues in his right elbow and he was directed to carry the arm in a sling for an indefinite period.

Don Whitt Wins Memphis Open

MEMPHIS (AP)—Don Whitt, steady under pressure Monday to win the $25,000 Memphis Open golf tournament in a three-way sudden death playoff. The victory was worth $3,500.

South Africa's Gary Player wound up second and Al Balding of Toronto was third. Each picked up $2,050.

Whitt fired a clutch birdie on the 18th hole to wind up tied with Player and Balding with a 72-hole total of 272.

In the playoff, Balding was jostled out on the first hole. His second shot left him a 20-foot putt that he missed to go par-4. Whitt and Player were down in birdie 3s.

On the second hole, Player's approach went into a sand trap. He blasted out but missed a 10-foot putt and went one-over for 5. Whitt was on in two, down in two.

Red Sox Are Trying To Make Deal For Help

BOSTON (AP)—A major shakeup, involving five front line players, is being considered by the skidding Boston Red Sox.

Red Sox general manager Bucky Harris said Monday he discussed a five-for-five player trade with another team and "I have an idea it might open up."

Harris declined to name the players or the other team involved. But he did comment:

"We've got to go to front line players. Nobody wants to talk second - stringers and second-stringers aren't going to do anybody any good."

"Let it go that we have offered five-for-five in what I consider a very fair swap. So far, it hasn't developed, but I have an idea it might open up."

Buffalo Applies For Franchise

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The community-owned Buffalo Bisons of the International League Monday made formal application for membership in baseball's proposed third major league.

John C. Stiglmeier, president of the Bisons, said the decision to apply for membership "had to be taken now because we could not afford to wait; we would be dead as a baseball city if major league ball came to Toronto and Buffalo was left in the minors."

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick revealed plans last Thursday for the league's formation.

Madison Square Garden To Hold New Bouts Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Madison Square Garden will inaugurate a new policy of using main-event fighters in non-televised semifinals Friday when Buddy Turner of Tyler, Tex. takes on Bob Cleroux of Montreal.

In the semi-final to the Dick Tiger-Rory Calhoun main event June 5, matchmaker Teddy Brenner will use Billy Ryan, Lowell, Mass. light heavy, a main eventer in New England.

The idea is to show new talent in the Garden in hopes they will show enough to move into a main event.

This May Be Johnny Podres' Year, Tosses Two-Hitter Against Giants; Phillies Beat Braves; Cards Win

Is this the year Johnny Podres finally gets the breaks and becomes a big winner?

The stocky southpaw is remembered as the youngster who pitched Brooklyn Dodgers to their only world championship and as a one-time National League leader in shutouts and earned-run average. Yet he's been a tough luck guy more often than not.

Last year was his first without serious injury and he hit his major league high with 13 victories. But he also dipped to his low in defeats with 15—five by one run.

Now he's back trying to beat the tough luck jinx again, and at the moment he's the ace of the Dodgers staff with a 5-2 record after pitching the best game of his career Monday for a two-hit, 8-0 victory over San Francisco Giants. It was his third straight success.

Podres had a no-hitter for 7 1-3 innings, then gave up consecutive singles by Daryl Spencer and Bob Schmidt. The Dodgers' third doubleplay saved his shutout and he was home free.

That pushed Los Angeles within .002 percentage points of the idle third-place Pittsburgh Pirates. Both are 3 1/2 games behind the first-place Milwaukee Braves, beaten 7-3 at Philadelphia. Chicago Cubs belted St. Louis Cardinals 9-4 in the only other game scheduled.

Podres, 26, got all the help he needed for his 14th shutout on a pair of two-run homers by Gil Hodges against losing lefty Mike McCormick. Dick Gray also homered as the Dodgers collected nine hits against the second-place Giants.

The Braves blew a 3-1 lead as the Phils, held to four hits for six innings, chased Bob Buhl (2-3) in a five-run seventh. Gene Freese's pinch two-run double triggered the Phils into the lead in the big frame as they took the weekend series 3-2. Don Cardwell won his first in three decisions, getting Ray Sempach's mopup help over the last two frames.

The Cubs, who had lost four straight, three to the Cards scored two runs in the first, then put it away on Jim Marshall's three-run homer in the second off losing reliever Ernie Broglio (0-3). Bobby Thomson and Dale Long also homered for the Cubs. Rookie Bob Anderson (3-3), who had lost three straight, won it with Bill Henry's three-innings of one-hit relief.

Jean Borotra Still Playing

PARIS (AP)—France's old-time tennis hero, Jean Borotra, still is bouncing around the clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium where he dominated French international tournaments in the 1920s.

The 60-year-old veteran, who admits "I only play well about half the time," has teamed with young Marie-Odile Bouchet to reach the third round of the mixed doubles of the French tennis championships. His precise placements combined with his partner's vigor for a winning combination.

Doubles are the only big-time competition for Borotra, who still favors long flannels and pauses between games to wipe off his glasses.

"Stand just 20 inches from the net; repeat it over and over to yourself," he told his pig-tailed partner.

Borotra says he will keep playing until a doctor tells him to quit. His record stretches back to 1924 when he first won the French and Wimbledon titles. He has played 30 Davis Cup matches for France, helping his country win the cup six years in a row from 1927 to 1932.

New Orleans Sets Record For Ball Fans

NEW ORLEANS (CP)—White and Negro fans sat together at a baseball game in City Park Stadium Monday night for the first time in New Orleans history.

The integration of spectators came a few hours after the United States Supreme Court knocked out a Louisiana ban on boxing matches between Negroes and whites. The litigation was concerned only with boxing but it is understood the court's decision could apply to other sports if the issue was raised.

Six Negroes attended the baseball game between New Orleans and Mobile of the Southern Association.

The Supreme Court took only 11 words to affirm a decision given last November by a three-judge federal court in New Orleans: "The motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

The lower court had said the 1956 Louisiana law covering athletic contests generally was unconstitutional and that separation of Negroes and whites solely because of race violated the constitution's equal protection clause.

Sugar Ray Maintains Basilio Will Not Sign For Middleweight Fight; Tiger Jones Possible Opponent

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, trying to retain his middleweight crown until he can get an opponent in a boxing ring, was quoted Monday as saying he was "absolutely positive" Carmen Basilio won't fight him here Sept. 21.

Robinson has signed a contract with a Philadelphia promoter and posted $10,000 forfeit money with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission for a Basilio fight.

But the Syracuse, N. Y., battler who once wrestled the title from Robinson hasn't agreed to terms, even though Sugar Ray and his backers have agreed to guarantee Carmen a minimum of $275,000.

Robinson said in a radio interview he'd fight Tiger Jones in a championship bout if Basilio refuses to sign. Jones beat Sugar

Ray in a 1955 bout at a time Robinson was on the comeback trail.

The National Boxing Commission already has stripped Robinson of his title and directed that Basilio and Gene Fullmer fight for the title.

The New York State Athletic Commission has held several hearings on the status of Robinson's title—he hasn't defended the title—he hasn't defended the crown for nearly a year after knocking out Basilio—and is expected to announce a decision Wednesday.

Robinson reiterated he has no intention of signing for a light-heavyweight title bout with Archie Moore.

Bruins, Rangers Tour Of Europe Termed 'Sportive Success' By New York G. M. Murray Patrick

VIENNA, Austria (CP)—Murray Patrick says that the just-concluded European hockey tour of the New York Rangers and Boston Bruins was a "sportive success" but financially it was not altogether satisfactory.

The general manager of the Rangers told reporters Monday that the National Hockey League players are tired, "and they've got a right to be."

Of the 23 games played in Britain and on the Continent, the Rangers won 11 and the Bruins nine. Three were ties. The tough part, both clubs found, was playing the whole exhibition in 27 days.

REST IN SWITZERLAND
The games here last weekend wound up the tour and the teams will leave for home Wednesday after a brief respite in Switzerland.

"We think the tour was a sportive success," Patrick said. "The boys played good hockey and the Europeans, who have little if any professional material, were impressed."

Among those most impressed were a group of Czechoslovak amateur players who came out from behind the Iron Curtain for eight hours to see the Rangers and Bruins work out in Vienna. The Czechs said the two NHL clubs would sweep European amateur teams off the ice.

The promoter of the tour, Othmar Delnon of Switzerland, plans to bring over two more NHL clubs next spring. Delnon, a former European amateur hockey player for 15 years, blamed the unseasonable weather for poor turnouts that ranged from 11,000 to less than 500.

Others including members of clubs have blamed poor advance publicity and high prices, ranging up to $7 for the best seats in Berlin.

"The Europeans were a bit surprised at our kind of hockey with tough bodychecking," Patrick said. "But they soon realized that it was not unfair. The two teams had lots of fun with the series and there was plenty of rivalry between them, even though there were no bonuses for the winning side."

"We got plenty of crowd support though. We had the public address system announcer ask one side of the hall to cheer the Bruins, the other for the Rangers. Everyone loved it."

Hammerin' Hank Aaron Hottest Hitter In NL With .461 Average; Tops Terry, Williams And Hornsby

NEW YORK (AP)—Hitting a blistering .461 after 36 games, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves may become the ninth player in modern big league history to bat .400 or better.

Aaron is running ahead of the pace set by Ted Williams and Bill Terry the most recent .400 hitters, and Rogers Hornsby when he established the all-time high average of .424 in 1924.

Although only one-fourth of the season has been completed, Aaron shows little letup in his bombardment of National League pitchers. Even if he went hitless in his next 23 times at bat, Hank still would be over the .400 mark.

COMPARISON OF AVERAGES

Here's the way Aaron compares with Williams in 1941, Terry in 1930 and Hornsby in 1924 after 36 games of the season.

G AB H Avg.
Williams, Bos AL 36 123 53 .431
Terry, NYk NL 36 151 58 .384
Hornsby, StL NL 36 146 60 .411
Aaron, Mil NL 36 154 71 .461

Williams wound up that season with .406. Terry ended with .401 and Hornsby with .424.
Hornsby also hit over .400 in two other seasons, finishing with .401 in 1922 and .403 in 1925. Ty Cobb also wound up over .400 in three campaigns with .420 in 1911, .410 in 1912 and .401 in 1922. The other .400 batsmen were Harry Heilmann with .403 in 1923; Joe Jackson, .408 in 1911; Nap Lajoie, .422 in 1901 and George Sisler with .407 in 1920 and .402 in 1922.

The records through Sunday's games show Aaron with a 93 point lead over runner-up Smokey Burgess of Pittsburgh in the National League batting race.

Johnny Temple of Cincinnati moved up one notch to third place with a five point increase to .344.

Harvey Kuenn of Detroit paces the American League with an even .400 average. Although he cracked out six hits in Sunday's doubleheader against Cleveland, Kuenn dropped four points last week with 10 hits in 26 at bats.

FOX IN THIRD SPOT
Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox remained in second place despite a three point loss to .363. Eddie Mathews of the Braves

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Lawson Little of California won his second successive British amateur golf championship 24 years ago today at St. Ann's, Lancashire. He was the third player—and the first from overseas—to take it twice in a row. He turned professional the following year, and won the Canadian Open in 1936.

St. Lambert To Hold Annual Meet Next Month

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP)—The Legionnaires of St. Lambert are going ahead with their monster track and field meet June 26-27 with or without official blessing as to its Canadian championship status.

The meet this year is to be tied in with the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, with distribution of special commemorative prizes.

General manager George Clark said Monday the track and field branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada now has directed that the meet be held July 3-4 if it is to have championship recognition.

The Legion had expected, as heretofore, recognition in the junior, juvenile and midget classifications.

AWARDED IN DECEMBER
At its 65th annual meeting last Dec. 3 in Vancouver, the AAU of C awarded these championships to St. Lambert.

"We have always had this recognition for our six previous meets and we have always held it the last Friday and Saturday in June," said Clark.

"We see no reason to change now, especially since we have planned to link it with the seaway opening when the Queen and President Eisenhower will be in St. Lambert only a few hours before the meet starts."

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New York—Emile Griffith, 147, New York, outpointed Willie (Pineapple) Stevenson, 144, Boston, 10.

Providence, R. I. — Willie Greene, 157, Providence, knocked out Charley Alford, 160, Philadelphia, 1.

FINSTERWALD'S GOLF... No. 24 Eliminate Misses To Left

By DOW FINSTERWALD
PGA Champion

I prefer a short, hitting action in putting.

The backstroke should be slightly on the inside of the intended line of the putt with the blade tending toward a somewhat closed position.

From the time the putter reaches the end of the backstroke, every action of the hands and arms should be intended to open the face of the putter through impact with the ball. The objective is to return the face of the putter to the ball in the same position it was in at address. The practice of opening the blade coming in to contact with the ball imparts the desired action to the ball.

It keeps the right hand from turning over and thus pulling the ball to the left. This helps to eliminate misses to the left of the cup which is good percentage putting. When I miss a putt, it is usually to the right. The stroke is all arms, wrists and hands. There is absolutely no body motion.

Fern Dubois New Manager For Royals

MONTREAL (CP)—Fern Dubois, the man who heads the hot dog vendors at Montreal Royals home games, today was named general manager of the attendance-weak International League club.

He succeeds Rene Lemyre, who announced his resignation before the start of the season but agreed to stay on until a successor was appointed.

President Emile (Butch) Bouchard said the move is effective June 1. Lemyre is leaving to take up a public relations job in Quebec City with a brewery.

Dubois has served under five Montreal managers in addition to Lemyre since joining the club in 1942 as director of the concessions department. Three years ago he was named promotions manager.

Waterloo Woman Has Interesting Coin Collection

WATERLOO — A collection of old coins is interesting to anyone but when you are privileged to inspect these coins in the setting of one of the most charming old homes in the Eastern Townships the coins gain in value, even if you hardly know one from another.

Such was the case when we went to call on Mrs. Gerald Martin of Frost Village. The lovely spacious brick house on a hill overlooking the country and the well-known little stone Anglican Church is steeped in history.

Frost Village was settled be-

fore Waterloo was thought of. The Williams family built and occupied this house on 1829. One could travel far and not find its equal. From the huge fan light over the entrance to the last room filled with antiques, it is a collector's dream.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin have a remarkable family, who all have the same appreciation for old things. The five daughters use every spare minute to enhance their treasures with needle point or any upholstering necessary. The son at home runs the farm and plays in the Waterloo Harmony Band for a hobby.

Mrs. Martin brought down her boxes of coins and explained some of the value and history of them a numismatist for many years, she has coins from most countries. One box alone held over 100 of the old copper 5c pieces. Newfoundland pieces of old English silver money, American coppers and silver, tiny 5c pieces and other obsolete issues are in the boxes.

Even today this gracious lady is looking to the future. Every new issue of Canadian coin is wrapped up in tissue and laid away to add to a collection for the little grandchildren. Years will add to their value tremendously.
